

Will you journey with us?

Will you journey with us?

In the spirit of generations to come and for our people in the past and present, for the waters that bind us together
Te Moana nui a kiwa
O le tangata Moana
The luvu returned to the people, knowledge holders and weavers

Will you journey with us?

Sustaining leadership, requires quality beyond words
Lived literacies and sustainability
Pacific led solutions
Indigenous solutions
Our mana enhancing solutions

Will you journey with us

Education outcomes grounded in context
For Pacific peoples
For Tonga
For the Solomon Islands
For the Cook Islands
And Aotearoa
Relationships bind us – a region redefined, across space and time

Will you journey with us?

Relationships and the child.
The child's relationships moves through literacies, mathematics and assessment Relationships weave and connects us
Four generations of Pacific education
We continue to travel new roads
Explore new spaces

Will you journey with us?

Legacy reaches beyond the book
Legacy reaches to the heart
Legacy touches lives
The village to the region, the village is not small –
The stitching together of context, established relationships and established knowledge systems.

Will you journey with us?

Implications flipped for donor industries
The work will speak to the heart and relationship first Delving in with all of ourselves, immersing ourselves in the waters of scoping and research

Will you journey with us?

Resources to support, are appreciated
Piki piki hama – let us bind our va'a together
Our young children have the right to their culture, to know themselves as successful learners
Navigating local and global economies
Applying indigenous methodologies

Will you journey with us?

Reimagining innovations for Pacific by Pacific,
Education transformation
Relationships weave and connect us
The luva signifies the growth of our relationship

Will you journey with us?