

PACIFIC OCEAN & CLIMATE CRISIS ASSESSMENT

Scan the QR Code below to access the full report or visit our website:

<https://www.usp.ac.fj/pacific-sd/projects/pocca/pocca-outputs/volume-1/>

POCCA REPORT CHAPTERS:

Chapter 1 - Introducing the Pacific Ocean Climate Crisis Assessment (POCCA) Project

Chapter 2 - Framing Climate Science in the Pacific Islands

Chapter 3 - Climate Change and Ocean Governance in the Pacific: Challenges of Sovereignty and Political Agency

Chapter 4 - Regional Climate and Ocean Strategies, Policies and Frameworks - a Stocktake of Current Status

Chapter 5 - 'We are the Moana': Climate Risks, Narratives of Vulnerability and Indigenous Pacific Resilience

Chapter 6 - Pacific Agency and Perceptions of Climate Crisis: Empowering the People's Narratives

Chapter 7 - Solwara, Moana, Ocean and Local Communities - The Social, Cultural and Economic Connections

Chapter 8 - Safeguarding Biodiversity through Indigenous and Local Knowledge for Climate Change Resilience

Chapter 9 - Thirst for life: Water Security and Changing Climate in the Pacific

Chapter 10 - Safelihoods & Social Protection in the Climate Crisis

Chapter 11 - COVID-19, Community Health and Mitigating Climate Crisis

Chapter 12 - Climate Crisis and Food Security in Pacific Island Countries and Territories

Chapter 13 - Climate Crisis, Geopolitical Vulnerability, Transnational Crime and Mitigating Responses

Chapter 14 - Loss and Damage: Save the Pacific, Save the World

Chapter 15 - Climate Change and Impacts on Socio-economic and Infrastructural Development

Chapter 16 - Climate Crisis and Cultural Heritage: Conversations

Chapter 17 - To Move or Not Move: Climate Mobilities in the Pacific

Chapter 18 - Climate Finance and Carbon Markets: Implications on Local Communities in the Pacific

Chapter 19 - Conclusion

Follow us:

Contact us:

E: pacific-sd@usp.ac.fj
Ph: +679 3231097
E: info@canterbury.ac.nz
Ph: +64 3 369 3999

“

In front of our house used to be an animal farm that has been passed down from generation to generation but due to prolonged drought we were unable to maintain it. ”

Lorri Olsson, Anetan District, Nauru